order of B'nai Brith. In this connection we take pleasure in quoting from Wednes-PREW-BURKE.-On Thursday evening, October 9th, 1873 in the parlor of the Grant House, by Hev D. W. Fisher, Mr. Roman T. Praw and Miss annus Burke, all of this city.

It will be seen from the foregoing announcement that the matrimonial epidemic which rages in this city jist now with such fatal results, has not some the needed of the INVELIGIACE. day's New York Tribune the following paragraph wherewith that journal concludes an editorial on Memphis and cludes an editorial of the soft-report:

"We note among other contributions to the soft-rers of Memphis, large contributions from the Jews of different cities, and we call attention to the fact simply as one notes the striking of a clock that marks the progress the world has made in time from day to day. A few hundred years ago, Christians in every country were burning and slaughtering the Israelites to force them to disgorge some of their heartful wealth, only too lax, they thought in their charity, if the burning was not performed on a spit and the world the strength of the surrender of one so incorrigible, and editors acknowledge receipt of cake and years ago, Christians in every country where burning and slaughtering the Israelites to force them to disgorge some of their heartful wealth, only too lax, they the health of our happy friend—"comrade in arms," so to speak—and his fair bride, and wish them life-long happiness without as shudow. Townsend—BARRISON—In Bridgeport Townster prolonged through hours of tor-water prolonged through hours of the prolonged through th ught in their charity, if the burning was not performed on a spit and the slaughter prolonged through hours of torture. To-day, the Jew out of his abundance stretches forth an eager, saving hand to his Christian brother in his sore strait. We who profess to follow Christ should not suffer, those who reject Him to prove themselves his most latitud disciples."

Carrous Prophecy.
In the number of 'The Modern Thinker for December, 1872, appeared an article signed by "A Positive Predictor," new said to have been written by David G. Choly, of New York, in which, among other pre lictions, appeared the following:

other pre lictions, appeared the following:

3 I predict that within the coming two years this country will experience the worst financial psnic know to its history.
It will be more wide spread and dissetrous than even that of 1837. All the debts created by our paper money era will be wiped out or compromised. Land will temporarily tall to one half its valne. 4 The panic will be precipitated, in all 4 The panic will be precipitated, in all probability, by the siliure of the Northern Pacific Railroad, and perhaps the bankers who manage it. This will bring to light such an amezing amount of fraud in connection with our railroads as to discredit all stocks, good and bad. The bears will hold bigh carnival. The men of most repute in financial circles and on the 'street' will prove to be common cheats.—While the panic will commence, from all appearances, in railroad circles, and will be confined for a time to western enterprises, it will spread finally to the National Banks, and will develop an amount of rottenness in these institutions which it now beyond the power of the which it now beyond the power of the imagination to conceive.

Some Lessons for the Banks Taught by the Recent Financial Convul-(From the Philadelphia Record )

The crisis through which the country has just passed has demonstrated what a slender thread binds financial institutions to the observance of laws If there are "no Sabbatas in revolutionary times," so also are there no laws (except those which they make unto themselves) of binding force upon banks during the existence of a panic. To all intent and purpose, the national banking law is now treated as a dead letter. The lawful reserve of 25 per cent has been intrenched upon. No attention is being paid to it, notwithstanding the law prohibits them from making any new loans or discounts when the reserve is below the lawful requirements, but on the contrary are making more liberal loans than before the panic began. We do not say that the banks have pursued a policy that the public exigency did to the observance of taws If there are We do not say that the banks have pursued a policy that the public exigency did not demand, on the contrary, had they observed the law, the panic would have overstepped the bounds of speculative circles, and invaded the walks of legitimate business. We only allude to this to show what an elastic garment our legislation is, and how easy it is to find an exoverstepped the bounds of speculative circles, and invaded the walks of legitimate business. We only silude to this to show what an elastic garment our legislation is, and how easy it is to find an excuse for the non-observance of its requirements. One good result will come of this, however, as it renders the way clear for modification of the present law, or the ensemble of a new one based upon free banking principles without Congress being liable to the charge of the above the strends of the present law, or the ensemble of the principles without Congress being liable to the charge of the above the strends of the present law, or the ensemble of the principles without Congress being liable to the charge of the banks them serves.

There is a great lesson to the circles and principles and principles without Congress being liable to the charge of the banks them serves.

There is a great lesson to the circles and principles are presented by the action of the banks them.

To sell an article is dispensable in ever selves.

There is a great lesson taught by the present depreciation in value of a certain class of securities that bank and trust company officers should take to heart. It is the duty of such institutions to loan their deposits in such a way as to be safe and under easy control. This crisis has developed the fact that this course has not been pursued. Business paper based upon mercantile transactions has in many cases been relused, and that accepted which rested on a foundation which could not stand the strain of a public fright. History again repeats thelf. The banks throughout the country have been aiding in the too rapid conversion of active capital into fixed, capital panks, not so much in Philadelphia or elsewhere, under obligations to pay large deposits on demand, have locked up those deposits by foans on paper made for the purpose of developing railroa's and other fixed improvements. The exhibits made by private benkers in the many cases the whole of the money capital possessed by these concern, and more in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and New York show that in many cases the whole of the money capital possessed by these concern, and more in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and New York show that in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and New York show that in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and New York show that in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and New York show that in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and New York show that in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and New York show that in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and New York show that in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and new York show that in some cases, was "locked up" in this city and New York show that in the control of the propose of the control this city and New York show that in many cases the whole of the money capital possessed by these concern, and more in some cases, was "locked up" in this character of improvements, and that they were dependent upon borrowing from their depositors and the banks for the capital to conduct their current leglimate business. A CORRESPONDENT makes the sugges-A CORRESPONDENT makes the sugges-tion that a great relief would be allored to employers and employes in these tight times if ours critizens, generally would strain a point and settle up promptly with mechanics. As suggested, the failure to do so in many cases is not inability, or in-disposition, but mere thoughtlessness.

Now a Kentucky parson has come out and advised the farmers of his congrega-tion to abandoo the godless business of raising tobacco. They have cut down his salary.

BEALLAVILLE, Washington county, has a new Odd Fellows' Hall, which will be dedicated this week.

Since the first well-defined suspicion of milk as the agent of disseminating typhoid fever, evidence has accumulated which proves that the subject is one of importance by no means minor. Dr. Bateson, medical inspector of Leeds, Rogaland, has just added important testimony on the subject. Toward the close of the year 1878, according to him, lever appeared in Leods in isolated places, and in districts where the sanitary condition was unexceptionable. The cause for this for a while completely baffled discovery; but at length it was found that a milk dealer living in the centre of the lows deretisements, this morning, calling upon Mr. A. J. Pannell to be a candidate for the House of Delegates to fill the existing vacancy.

Among the contributions for relief of the Memphis sufferers, it seems deserving of mention that about sixty dollars have been contributed by the Israelites of this city as members of the the benevolent order of Brail Brith. In this connection was represented by the same woman who managed the dairy. Of the eighty persons attacked fourteen died. A dairyman in Glasgow, having fever in his house, supplied seventy-three families, living in five different streets, and in these families thirty-six cases of fever occurred.

Dr. J. addresses all those NOTICE into desirely meeting to the hope the country, the darling of his parents, shock to country, the darling of his parents, shock to from all prospects and eployments life by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain sent habit. Buch persons must, before contemplating MARINAGE, reflect that a sound mind and body are the nex necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these the journithrough life becomes a weary pligrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the nich becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happines a another becomes blighted with our own.
